The 2020 corona virus pandemic has been affecting us all for a while now, in every way. Schools are closed, and, along with businesses and all exhibition and performance venues for the arts, they are considering how they can open safely. In the meanwhile, our arts leaders and friends are thinking up exciting new ways to experience the arts online — and learn.

Scan through this list of online and virtual arts links that we’ve collected from Cleveland Arts Education Consortium members and other sources. We think you’ll find some intriguing and useful online sites to explore.

NewBridge Cleveland

NewBridge Challenges: We are posting a NewBridge Challenge 1-2 times a week with different topics, asking students to reflect artistically on the topic and to submit their artwork. Any topics with 5 submissions or more can win a $10 gift card. High school students are welcome to like the NewBridge programming pages and submit artwork. Youth programming pages are @clelead and @mylens_photo.

Drop-In Center, Youth Safe Space: While reconnecting and re-engaging with our students, many of them expressed a desperate need to get away or out of their homes for various reasons; mental health, toxic environments, emotional needs, etc. We’ve opened a drop-in center in our gallery for HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ONLY, ages 14 to 18! Maximum occupancy of 10 students at a time, on Mondays, Wednesday, and Fridays from 10am-1pm. We have strict, no-tolerance policy safety guidelines that they need to practice with proper PPE and social distancing. Students are given a parent/guardian form that explains safety measures and expectations. Students are expected to return a second time with the filled-out form, and can access snack, wifi, computers, charging stations, music, watch movies, and just have a relaxing environment to recharge mentally and emotionally.
The Vitals: Our NewBridge Instagram posts wellness posts every week to support mental health and overall well-being, and to point out important resources at this time. Follow it @newbridge_cleveland.

Virtual Summer Session

Virtual private lessons and Eurhythmics classes start May 18! Apply today to participate and join other local music students for an interactive and innovative learning experience.

Private Lessons — Beginner, intermediate and advanced students of all ages can explore fundamentals of technique and musical expression with CIM’s renowned faculty and develop key communication and artistic skills that can be applied outside of the classroom. Virtual private lessons are available for all string, woodwind, brass and percussion instruments, as well as piano, voice, classical guitar, harp, composition and music theory.

Eurhythmics Classes — Taught by CIM faculty member Graham Rosen, virtual Eurhythmics at CIM is offered every Tuesday for six weeks and open to all ages and experience levels. Depending on age and experience, students will be placed in either Children’s Eurhythmics for ages 3-5, Intermediate Eurhythmics for ages 5-12 or High School Eurhythmics for ages 12-18.

Families can also sign-up for drop-in Eurhythmics classes with CIM faculty member Brian Sweigart! Drop-in classes are perfect for beginners who are interested exploring an introduction to Eurhythmics, families who are looking for a fun, educational experience that gets everyone moving and exploring music; intermediate to advanced students who are considering enrolling in Eurhythmics at CIM for a semester, but want to test a class first, or looking to further their education.

Check back later for more information around drop-in classes and how to sign up

• Cleveland Piano

The Virtual PianoKids video series gives children (ages 3-8) the opportunity to travel the world with our hosts while they introduce them to the building blocks of music through fun and engaging programs.

Videos will be released in July 2020 prior to the launch of Virtu(al)oso, our global piano competition for artist relief, and will bring children to the countries from which contestants will be competing: United States, United Kingdom, Germany, and China.

Each video will be 10-15min in length and explore a single musical concept, such as timbre, tempo, pitch, and form. In addition, these videos will include fun crafting components to engage children in multiple modes of learning, teach them how pianos work, and provide fun for the whole family. The series culminates in a live performance on August 5 at 11:30am on the Piano Cleveland webpage, where our youth participants will be able to apply what they have learned in an interactive session.

• Cleveland Museum of Art

VISUAL ART: Open Access — The Cleveland Museum of Art announced on January 23, 2019, the Cleveland Museum of Art became an Open Access institution, using the Creative Commons Zero (CC0) designation for high-resolution images and data as related to its collection, giving the public the ability to share, collaborate, remix, and reuse images of many as 30,000 public-domain artworks from the CMA’s world-renowned collection of art for commercial and non-commercial purposes. In addition, portions of collections information (metadata) for more than 61,000 artworks, both in the public domain and those works with copyright or other restrictions, works are now available. In September 2019, The Cleveland Museum of Art extended its Open Access policy to three dimensional (3D) images of public domain artworks from its collection. These 3D images or models are made available under the same terms and conditions with the Creative Commons Zero (CC0) designation and may be used for commercial and non-commercial purposes without request for permission or fee. Works with available 3D image files are linked to open access objects in The Cleveland Museum of Art’s collection online with the 3D icon and can be viewed and downloaded via Sketchfab.

• Inlet Dance Theatre

Inlet Dance Theatre’s Summer Dance Intensive Junior – in-person camp
August 3-7, 2020 (Half day and Full day options).

Just like Inlet’s longstanding Summer Dance Intensives, Summer Dance Intensive Junior focuses on creating a supportive community for young dancers ages 6-12, exposing students to the collaborative dance-making process, and increasing technical and performance skills.

This 1-week intro camp includes improvisation-based movement games, modern technique, creating new choreography and more! This year will include variations of current and past Inlet works! This camp will culminate with an informal showing for family and friends.

Limited Scholarships are available!
More info and to register online, visit: https://inletdance.org/sdi-jr/
Camp will be held at The Music Settlement’s Ohio City campus at 2610 Detroit Ave.

NOTE: Inlet is committed to running this 2020 camp as scheduled. They will, of course, defer to the State and Federal guidelines regarding Stay at Home orders and social distancing. In the event they have to cancel due to COVID-19 factors, all tuition will be refunded.
Inlet also offers 30-second Improvisations to inspire your own improvisation: Inlet dancers created a virtual Improvisation Circle, like a modern dance cipher. One dancer created an improvisation based on a simple idea for 30 seconds. She then ‘tagged’ the next dancer who tried to riff on the first improv, and then tagged the next, and so on. Inlet has 18 dancers, all filming themselves horizontally with their phones. The 30 second files are in a Google Drive document edited together and set to a piece of agreed upon music. What’s interesting is that some students heard about it, submitted their own—and the student improvs were added at the end!

Experience an Inlet Outreach Warm-up, great for anyone (particularly for school-aged children).

• Cleveland International Film Festival   Film Slam

FilmSlam® is the Cleveland International Film Festival’s media literacy program and mini-festival of films for students. FilmSlam® aims to educate students about evaluating and critiquing the messages they perceive while viewing films and serves as an effective program to provide students with deep learning opportunities that go beyond the acquisition of basic skills. These include: the ability to foster thought-provoking discussion, analysis, and awareness of media communication forms and genres; critical thinking; curiosity; and social emotional growth.

Don’t expect to see the Radical Monarchs—a scout troop comprising young girls of color in Oakland, California—selling cookies. These troopers earn their badges by learning about social justice movements and participating in protest and pride marches. In English and Spanish with subtitles

We Are The Radical Monarchs will air on WVIZ/PBS ideastream (Channel 25) on Monday, July 20th at 9 p.m.

It will be available to stream on all PBS platforms, including PBS.org, the PBS Video App and pov.org.

For a study guide, reach Beth Steele Radisek - beth@clevelandfilm.org

We Are The Radical Monarchs has curricular links with Social Studies, Global Studies, English Language Arts, Spanish Language, Media Studies with questions like What does “radical” mean? Discuss a time when you felt excluded> What can the class do to be more inclusive? What is an ally? When have you been an ally? What inspires you to take action to make the world a better place?

• Cleveland Street Art: The Best Murals in Cleveland and Where to Find Them

VISUAL ART: Cleveland’s street art scene has been growing, with new, bold murals going up around the city every single year. In Cleveland, these murals are often commissioned works of art, meaning they should be around for years to come! To help you navigate Cleveland’s growing street art scene, Amanda decided to write a guide to all her favorite murals in Cleveland. This guide is divided by neighborhood, and she provides as much info about each mural as she can to help you find them all!

• New York Metropolitan Art Museum    “The Met”

VISUAL ART: The Met 360° Project: This award-winning series of six short videos invites viewers around the world to virtually visit The Met's art and architecture in a fresh, immersive way. Created using spherical 360° technology, it allows viewers to explore some of the Museum's iconic spaces as never before. Viewed more than 11 million times, this series affords an access and a perspective typically unavailable to the public. Viewers can experience the magic of standing in an empty gallery after-hours, witnessing a bustling space in time-lapse, or floating high above The Met Cloisters for a bird's-eye view. They strung cables, removed protective covers from works of art, and rigged cameras up high, all to allow viewers to explore The Met as never before. Get a behind-the-scenes look at how they created the videos in a Digital Underground article written by Director/Producer Nina Diamond.

You may view these videos on YouTube on multiple devices:

• On your smartphone: Move your phone up, down, and behind you to see all directions.
• On your desktop computer: Use the mouse to scroll in all directions. (Note: For an optimal user experience, use Chrome or Firefox as your browser.)
• On Google Cardboard or a VR headset

Be sure to turn up the volume to hear the music, too
• Guggenheim Museum

VISUAL ART: While the Guggenheim Museum in New York City is closed in response to coronavirus (COVID-19), we invite you to experience the Guggenheim from home and discover artists, exhibitions, and collections.

For example - Sketch with Jeff – Wed and Sat, join Guggenheim teaching artist Jeff Hopkins as he draws the inside and outside of the museum and provides some at-home sketching prompts. Little Guggs – Wed and Sun, explore works of art on view and then create your own art in the studio. For families with children 2–4 years old. Registration is required.

• The Museum of Modern Art “MoMA”

VISUAL ART: While MoMA and its stores in New York City are closed, they are saying that nothing is more important to them than the health and safety of the community. Lisa Mazzola, March 19, 2020 – “Whether you are a classroom or homeschool teacher, a parent or caregiver now suddenly in the position of teaching at home, a student, or a lifelong learner, this is a challenging time. Art can be a powerful catalyst for building skills and understanding a range of subjects. Teaching and learning from home is something we can all explore together, so we wanted to share some resources from MoMA to get you started.”

Earth Porm – Painted Stairways Around the World

17 Beautifully Painted Stairs From All Over The World

To see them all go to http://earthporm.com/17-beautifull-painted-stairs-world/
Here are two:

1. San Francisco, California

These tiled stairs run up a total of 163 steps at 16th and Moraga Street in San Francisco. Over 300 neighborhoods joined in to create the spectacle, leading to an absolutely beautiful result.

2. Valparaíso, Chile

In Valparaíso, Chile, you can walk up a flight of piano-like stairs. It’s just too bad you can’t play a tune too.

More to come..
Thank you for browsing through this list of arts links and online programs.

We hope you found some ideas and learning links that will work for you, your students and families, schools and groups.
